Orange Business Services ranks in Top 5 of global managed security services providers

Current Analysis, a global competitive intelligence provider, ranks Orange Business Services in the Top 5 Managed Security Services Providers (MSSP) worldwide. According to the report "Managed Security Services Update: It Just Got Better,"¹ Orange Business Services is ranked as a "Threatening" competitor in the global MSSP market.

Orange Business Services differentiates itself with its ability to support advanced services in identity management and threat management, as well as the large geographical coverage of its security services offer, according to the report. The study focuses on five aspects of MSSP offerings: service scope and availability; service packages/support guarantees; authentication and monitoring services; and intrusion prevention and threat management.

"Orange Business Services has a solid global managed security offering with recent developments in ITIL compliant GRC (governance, risk and compliance) support for customers and expansion of remote device and cloud security," according to Current Analysis.

"We see increasing demand for managed services from large corporations that would like to optimize their costs, particularly through security 'opexification,'" said Nicolas Furgé, head of Security Services, Orange Business Services. "Orange Business Services is an infrastructure service provider delivering network and cloud services as a pure player. Quality, continuity of service, customer care for all, strong involvement in connected work changes – such as Internet, media, virtual/cloud, smartphone/BYOD – are our daily concerns."

As part of its security services portfolio, Orange Business Services provides: remote access services (Flexible SSL); vulnerability management services; log and event correlation services, and smartphone security services.

Orange Business Services differentiates itself with a strong network culture and experience; tailored services as much as off-the-shelf solutions; and multiple market segment expertise – from SMEs to MNCs – and worldwide customer care, underpinned by a robust delivery factory certification ISO 27001, the international information security management system standard.

Portfolio growth will help Orange Business Services achieve its conquests 2015 goal of doubling security revenue within three years with more than 50 percent of that growth coming from managed services.
